

Natalie is an associate of RKS specialising in family law and civil litigation.

Natalie advises on all aspects of family law, including nuptial agreements, divorce, and disputes relating to children and matrimonial finances. She also advises on contentious estate and probate matters. Her civil litigation experience includes handling general commercial disputes and professional liability claims.

Natalie began her career at an international law firm specialising in family law. She subsequently joined the disputes practices of other leading international law firms, and broadened her practice to cover commercial litigation, arbitration, and professional liability claims. Natalie has advised clients ranging from ultra-high net worth individuals, entrepreneurs, city professionals, private banks, global accounting firms, multinational insurers, and Hong Kong law firms.

Clients praise Natalie for her 'dedication and professionalism' and as someone who 'truly cares'. Many commend her ability to remain calm and provide high-quality advice and support in the most trying of times. Natalie is also recognised for her ability to synthesize high-level strategic considerations with an extensive knowledge of litigation procedure, as well as her aptitude for legal writing, with one client commenting 'I figured I had a winning streak when I saw her drafts.'

Natalie is qualified in Hong Kong and an active member of the Hong Kong Family Law Association. She is fluent in English, Cantonese and Mandarin.
